The Hottest New Brunches in 15 American Cities

THE BEST IN BENEDICTS, GRIDDLES AND MIMOSAS

Brunch, the one meal that rewards weekend laziness. Roll out of bed at 1 PM and rest assured you can still get fancy eggs at just about any spot in town. Here are the hottest new brunches in 15 American cities this spring.

San Diego: The Rail

After an extensive remodel, this iconic Hillcrest spot has updated its brunch menu, available weekends, 10 AM–3 PM. Nosh on Southern-inspired dishes such as Cajun shrimp Benedict served with cornbread waffles and a fun take on flatbread, topped with fig, prosciutto and Brie.

Must-order: The restaurant’s coffee and donuts turn the classic pairing on its head with coffee-cured, hand-rolled bacon served with cinnamon sugar donut holes and a vanilla latte dipping sauce.
